State of Kansas awards Transportation Logistics Management, Inc. the statewide contract to supply freight transportation services and management in order to reduce costs and improve freight processes.

Denver, Colorado, July 29, 2010- During this difficult economic environment, saving monies and positively impacting budgets is crucial. The State of Kansas recognized an opportunity to reduce costs by managing the freight expenses associated with all the commodities and products they already purchase.

“TLM is very excited about this opportunity,” stated Mike Hutchins, President of Transportation Logistics Management, Inc. “Over the last 18 months, we have met with over 500 procurement groups and organizations and more than 1800 procurement professionals to develop a comprehensive savings program. It was designed specifically for governmental procurement departments, universities, educational departments, school districts and other procurement departments and is showing savings of up to 50% or more with procurement organizations throughout the United States.” He went on to say, “It is a program that was designed by procurement professionals for procurement professionals.”

Transportation Logistics Management Inc. has grown in reputation and success by securing contracts with the State of Arizona, UCLA and the University of California System-including 10 campuses. They are providing cost-saving services to cities, counties, school districts and universities throughout the United States. Additionally, they have sought the input and validation of many of the top procurement professionals throughout the United States, who have been instrumental in providing advice and direction in the development of TLM’s Freight Management Program.
